

Jesse Paudash

May 13, 1994 - January 14, 2025

Jesse Lawrence James Paudash

born Friday May 13, 1994 in Peterborough, Ontario

Jesse has passed onto the Spirit World to be with his Ancestors and his best friend "Pa".

He will be dearly missed by his Mom, Dad, Brady (Raylinn), Nanny, Aunties, Uncles, cousins, friends and all those who loved him.

His legacy will live on through his children whom he loved very much.
Mila May, Damon Jeffery Lorne and Jordan Wylder??

As per Jesse's wishes he has been cremated and rests at our home. A celebration with a bbq will take place at a later date.

Baa Maa Pii Son ??

Mom Dad Brady xoxo

Tribute Wall

KK

“ I miss you man. We were cousins but everyone said we looked like brothers, and we were close enough too. Every time I came home to the Rez you were the first person I'd go looking for because I loved seeing you and catching up. I'll never forget the last memories we made together, shortly before I moved out west. You used to come to my house any time you needed a break from the chaos and I was so happy to be able to provide a safe space for you. None of this feels real still. I think about you every day and I talk to you constantly. I just hope that wherever you are now, you can hear me.

Kyler Kay - February 19, 2025 at 12:04 AM

TE

“ Jesse was my best friend back in elementary school. I'd go to his place all the time back when we were in grade 7 and 8, and a lot of my best memories come from those days. I remember him showing me a broken down bus tucked away in the trees behind his house, and the image of the bus in that clearing on that warm summer day is forever cemented in my brain. We drifted apart through high school and beyond, as youth do, but every time I saw him afterwards it was as if we'd just pick up where we'd left off. I'm heartbroken that I won't get to bump into him and have my day brightened again, but I'll never forget the good times we did have. Rest in peace, brother, and say hi to Jordan for me. I'll meet you both again some day, I'm sure.

Trevor Elliott - February 11, 2025 at 11:45 AM

KI

“ Jessie was my daughter cousin. He entered our lives later in life. He was always respectful and kind and very willing to do anything he could to help out out. He helped install a chandler in my kitchen. He did drop on my head and required 12 stiches in my head. But sat with me at hospital for 6 hours to get my head stiched up. We laughed the whole time we were in Emergency dept annoyed other but entertained ourselves. Always called me Miss K. I will always have great memories.

Kerri Immings - January 28, 2025 at 05:13 PM

ST

“ Tolf you id be your pillar forever. Now ill be the pillar to my godson, Jordan Wylder. Forever young g. Forever wild. Ill see you thw flipside my dearest friend \u2665\ufe0f baamaapii JP

Savannah Taylor - January 21, 2025 at 01:10 PM

HS

“ With caring thoughts,

Heartfelt Sympathies - January 21, 2025 at 08:26 AM

RJ

“ Just remember bro, forever will I live on the motto of Checkers Or Wreckers! Rest easy bro, one day we will meet again and catch up on everything we both missed! Love you bro, your never forgotten!

Richard Jesso - January 20, 2025 at 11:16 PM