“ Very shocked to learn of Rob\u2019s passing \u2013 coincidentally at the same time I happened to be looking back at my grade 8 class picture that Rob was also in. Though we were not close friends, in the cloistered confines of North Cavan Public School I remember Rob as a kind, friendly, easy-going farm kid that everyone liked, with an ever present smile, a funny guy, quick with a quip, always positive and supportive of his classmates and humble as hell too. Looking back, he embodied many of the values that made Cavan such a wonderful place to grow up in. The condolences here show that the considerable promise of Rob\u2019s youth was more than realized into adulthood and the man he became. My heartfelt condolences to the Hooton family for your untimely loss, far, far too early . . . rest in peace old chum. Jor Kassam

“ To the Family, Friends, and Colleagues of Rob, On behalf of everyone at the Impro Team, we would like to extend our heartfelt condolences on the passing of Rob. We were deeply saddened to learn of his passing, and our thoughts are with all who knew and loved him. Rob was not only a key partner in his role as a purchaser for one of our most valued clients at D&F, but also a true gentleman and a joy to work with. Rob always treated every member of our team, especially our Customer Service Representatives, with warmth, respect, patience and kindness. His professionalism, good nature, and sincere approach left a lasting impression on all of us. It's difficult to put into words how much Rob's presence meant to our team. He was more than a colleague—he was someone we genuinely looked forward to working with. His passing at just 53 is a profound loss, not only to those close to him, but to our entire industry. We will truly miss his insight, his positivity, and the friendly rapport he so naturally fostered. Please accept our deepest sympathies during this difficult time. Rob made a meaningful impact on many lives, and he will not be forgotten. With sincere condolences, The Impro Team

“ Rob was a remarkable person. He always walked around with a smile on his face and ready to laugh and have fun. I had the privilege to work, play hockey and just hanging out with him and no matter what we were doing we\u2019d laugh, smile, have fun and it was all because of Rob. This world needed more people like him. He\u2019s truly going to be missed. Rest easy my friend. Our deepest condolences to his beautiful family and all his close friends.
